North West Intelligence.

DELHI GAZETTE, JAN. 26.

CABUL.—Our last morning gave out the rumour of Major Pottinger having recommenced the treaty of capitulation which had been broken off by the envoy's murder, and that he, in his turn, had been obliged to leave the matter in an unsettled state, having been attacked in the entrenched Camp by the Afghans, subsequently came in a letter from the neighbourhood of the Khyber reporting that a victory had been gained by our troops over the insurgents, and we were fondly flattering ourselves that matters for the present, had taken a more favourable turn, and that our friends, at any rate, had some chance of securing their retreat upon more reciprocal terms than otherwise might have been expected, when we received accounts, which from their source we believe to be authentic, that the Afghans have actually been re-entranced into Cabul by Jellalabad, and Peshawar all agreeing in the fact of a capitulation which we cannot but deem ignominious. The subject of our letters, which have reached from various quarters at one and the same time, is nearly as follows. Our guns, money and ammunition are surrendered to the enemy, our sick and wounded remain, until it be possible to remove them, in Cabul, and our baggage, six in number, namely Captain Walsh Madras Army, Lieut. Airey of the Buffs, Conolly, Thain, and Capt. Warburton of the Artillery, also remain, the parties signing the treaty (true or whatever name it may be dignified by) are Major Pottinger, General Elphinstone, Colonel Shelton, Brigadier Anquetil and Colonel Chambers. There is no mention made of Afghan General Sale. General Sale had been ordered to vacate Jellalabad and had refused to do so and he is comparatively safe. It is reported that the messenger who brought General Elphinstone's letter to General Sale was also charged with letters to the different Chiefs to harass our troops.

Another letter says that the part of the treaty relating to the transfer of ammunition and hostages, had been effected by the late Envoy before his death, and that the order for General Sale to evacuate Jellalabad was obtained by the Afghans before the conference took place. Our last letter from Peshawar, inserted in Saturday's number, mentioned that there was a probability of Sale's retreating upon that place, but we made no mention of the danger, as we were thought at that time, that it was merely a mistake; all correspondents, however, affirm that the General refused to march out, and that there is every prospect of another fight in that quarter, the fortress being again invested; this may be true, as it is many days since we have had any regular correspondence from Jellalabad. The Khyber pass beyond Ali Musjid is stated to be closed, and General Sale is reported to be unable to push on two battalions, to Sale's assistance.

QUETTA.—A letter from Quetta of the 7th Inst. mentions the arrival of communication, from Candahar of the 31st ultimo through a secret channel, all public communication being suspended. It confirms the account of the murder of Captain Golding; his Corps of Jan Bax had been ordered out on service towards Girik, when they mutinied and murdered their leader. Lieut. Patterson of the 2d Bengal N. I. was with him but escaped desperately wounded in eleven places; this Officer must have a charmed life for, although generally coming off with the disadvantage of wounds he manages to escape. He is also doing well and is not considered in danger. The mutineers then decamped in the direction of the rebel leader's Camp at Shalal but were pursued and overtaken about 10 miles off by Captain Leeson of the Shah's 1st Cavalry with about 250 men; a good fight ensued and the rebels were forced to give up. The Shah's 1st Cavalry, their Stirr was wounded, but escaped. The Shah's 1st Cavalry is quiet although the conduct of the Jan Bax caused a sensation. The Native Garrison of Girik holds well. Kelat-i-Ghilzie has not been approached by the enemy and, being strong, will be found a most important post whenever circumstances allow the field to be taken again. The Shah's son Sudler

Jung has left Candahar and it is not known where he has gone to, it behoves our political to be on the look out, however.

Every thing was perfectly quiet at Quetta.

GENERAL POLLOCK.—The Brigade under General Pollock had all lately secured the Chenuab on the 20th instant, and it was supposed that having heard of the halt of Colonel Wild's Brigade, they would push on without delay. The Camp was plentifully supplied with news, among other reports it was said that Acbar Khan had himself met his death, but by whom the blow was dealt was not known. The report of General Sale having been ordered to vacate Jellalabad and of that city being surrounded by the Khyberies was also prevalent.

Until this morning we have not had any of our papers which during the late affairs in Afghanistan, we continued, to send forward, returned to us. The first has now arrived addressed to Lieut. Rattray with a "dear Sir" written upon it; how many addresses to other victims may perhaps, in their return, bear us the first real intelligence of the sad destruction of which we fear we know not one half. The unfortunate Officer above alluded to,—one of the first victims of Afghan revenge—was most treacherously butchered, whilst walking in his garden between two rows of recruits waiting for Appraisal, by a band of hired ruffians who rushed upon and overpowered him.

AGRA UKHBAK, JAN. 27.

The Cabool tragedy is drawing rapidly to a close. The following dismal—dismal in whatever way we view it,—written upon it; how many addresses to other victims may perhaps, in their return, bear us the first real intelligence of the sad destruction of which we fear we know not one half. The unfortunate Officer above alluded to,—one of the first victims of Afghan revenge—was most treacherously butchered, whilst walking in his garden between two rows of recruits waiting for Appraisal, by a band of hired ruffians who rushed upon and overpowered him.

The intelligence is as follows—it is communicated by a correspondent with the Force now proceeding to relieve—or is it to meet the fugitives who fought their way through a host of foes—made powerful by our own recklessness. He states that a letter had been received by Captain Macgregor from Major Elphinstone, which contained a requisition from the latter Officer, that the Troops at Jellalabad should evacuate that town and return to India, in conformity with a treaty entered into by Major P and General Elphinstone, with the present Government of Cabool! To this requisition Captain Macgregor and General Sale refused to accede, until they were satisfied of the genuineness of the message. The British force, however, had certain information, of Ukbar Khan, Dost Moohumud's son, having sent emissaries to induce the tribes around and near Jellalabad to rise and destroy the British force on their contemplated retreat to India. In this determination, General Sale and Captain Macgregor made a sound use of the discretion reposed in them. At Jellalabad, General Sale can hold his position unless he be helped by an overwhelming force, which, if the report of disunion amongst the Ghilzie and other Chiefs be true, is not likely to assemble.

Letters had been received in camp from Captain Macgregor, from Jellalabad, dated the 12th January and from Cabool, the 4th of the same month. According to the latter, the new King of Afghanistan, the self-declared ruler of the Afghans, was Teeran Khan. Our rejected and detested monarch, Shah Soorjah, was in the Bala Hissar, defending himself with the energy of despair. The terrible fate that he knew awaited him should he fall into the hands of his subjects, had aroused him from his usual torpor. A report also was received, that Ukbar Khan, the cowardly and treacherous assassin of Sir W. Macnaghten, had himself been slain in a battle, at least one good item in the dark and cheerless catalogue.

It now appears that the envoy had concluded a treaty with the Afghan Chiefs and had given up 6 hostages, Guns, money, &c. The troops were to have marched the day after the interview which ended in his assassination; and with that little hope of being rescued in the night, as the Afghan Chiefs, even had they the desire, had not the power to protect them.

Such are the last accounts we have received of the position of affairs in Afghanistan, and we look with unminged anxiety for further intelligence. We confess with pain that we despair of the safety of the force there, nay, we might almost add, of all the troops at present beyond the Sutlej, unless a further force of 10,000 men, with a strong train of Artillery be pushed on without delay.

PESHAWAR.—Our accounts from Peshawar are hardly less discouraging than those from Cabool: the Seikh Chiefs had agreed to hold Alee Musjid for the passage of our troops, but Brigadier Wild was doubtful—to push in beyond the Sutlej, unless a further force of 10,000 men, with a strong train of Artillery be pushed on without delay.

AGRA.

We understand Colonel Vincent, has been appointed to the command of Agra, in succession to General Pollock.
Mr. LeBas, Civil Service, proceeded to Bombay, en route to Europe, on the 22d instant.
Jhunkoo Row, the Gwalior Rajah, is said to be dangerously ill. His death would be embarrassing now.
Colonel Stiles is on his return, to reassume the command of Scindiah's reformed Contingent.

JANUARY 29.

The details that have reached us are as follows; and it is their minuteness, chiefly, that forces conviction upon us. A letter was received at Agra from Cabool, dated the 4th of January, in which it was stated that a treaty had been concluded between the British and the Afghans, by which our troops were to be permitted to march for Jellalabad, taking with them their side arms and pouch ammunition, but abandoning their guns, stores, ordnance, and the treasury, as well as their sick and wounded. This treaty was signed by General Elphinstone, Major Pottinger, Colonel Shelton, Anquetil and Chambers, and the Afghans, by the Shah's son Sudler. It is a most unaccountable feature in the affair—six hostages, were given by us! all Officers, whose names the Delhi Gazette publishes. What portions of the treaty, we were likely to disregard, or to what it was necessary to bind us, by taking hostages from us, it is impossible to say. Our troops having once entered into such a treaty, must have been bound to it.

anxious to fulfil it to the letter and hostages as regarded it, were unnecessary. It was, we who should have obtained the hostages, but those who could have entered into a treaty at all with such savages, were hardly in a condition to perceive the bearings of this or any other feature of it. It was signed on the 4th and the day following the troops commenced their march, the only march accompanied by the ladies and children who were in the camp. They proceeded unmolested till the second march, when they were attacked, but succeeded in driving off the enemy with loss. The attack was renewed on the 3rd day, when we suffered severely, and on the 4th the enemy came down in very strong force and—so it is said—completely cut up the remaining portion of our troops, with the exception of Colonel Anquetil. This Officer with 200 men of the Queen's 44th, continued their march and had made some way to Jellalabad, when they were again beset by overpowering numbers. Colonel A—was killed and the whole annihilated. Two persons, it is said, alone reached Jellalabad, Dr. Brydon of the 5th Native Infantry and a trooper or sepoy. Dr. H—reported there, the deaths of Colonel Anquetil and Lieut. Sturt, and of 16 other Officers, and as no further fugitives had reached Jellalabad, the safety of more of the Force was despaired of. The ladies and children returned on the 2nd day of the march, unable to endure the intense cold. What their fate may be, it is painful to conjecture, but let us hope for the best.

Such are the details that have reached us of this fearful massacre—fearful whether we consider it as a severe national blow, or as the source of deep private distress. To the latter we can give our full sympathy, but the other calls for a more serious feeling as being the act of those to whom we so foolishly have entrusted the management of this important Empire, and to whom we look for protection—for such a crisis this is the thought that will force itself upon us. But until the melancholy account is confirmed or contradicted, it would obviously be objectionable to make it the subject of lengthened remarks. A solitary report has indeed reached us, that ther hard on the last named corps, which not only consists almost entirely of recruits, but was present in Lord Kean's campaign.

A detachment of Her Majesty's 22d Regiment, consisting of five hundred bayonets, will leave Khundalla, to day, en route for the Presidency. They will be encamped on the esplanade, until vessels are ready to take them to Kurrachee.

We may expect the arrival of the steamer with the overland mail of the 4th January on or about Thursday next.

Her Majesty's Ship Endymion which arrived at this port from the Red Sea on the 3d instant, will sail on Saturday next for Calcutta, touching at Trincomalee and Madras. She may be looked for in the Hooghly, about the middle of March.

It is generally expected that the Endymion will convey Lord Auckland to England, as the Cumbrian, which is bringing out the new Governor General, is destined to reinforce the China fleet. The Endymion's services would doubtless be acceptable in the same quarter. The crew would appear to have been particularly well trained to the use of their guns. Letters from Aden mention that their shot and shell practice when at that place was very superior and excited the admiration of all who beheld it. In the present state of affairs, we cannot but conceive that it would be much more creditable to Lord Auckland were he to proceed to England in a merchant ship and not deprive the Admiral of the assistance of a highly efficient frigate.

CALCUTTA.

The Jellinghee in tow of the Lord Wm. Bentick, left Calcutta this day for the Upper Provinces, with the following passengers:—

For Allahabad.—Mrs. Low; Mr. Conolly and child; Mrs. Hulse; Mr. and Mrs. Turner; and child; Miss Snarey; Miss Dickey and Miss Davis.
For Mirzapore.—Mrs. Lieut. Campbell and child.
For Benares.—Miss Norton.
For Patna.—Mrs. Oldfield and 2 children and Miss Wilkins.
For Ghazepore.—Capt. Barber.—Englishman, Jan. 26.

We learn that the sum drawn by the Court of Directors by the present mail is eleven lacs of rupees.—Ibid.

We understand that in consequence of all our Colonels being promoted to the rank of Major General by the Prince-Brevet, and of no Lieutenant Colonels being eligible for promotion to the rank of Colonel, the Court of Directors have suspended, until further orders, that portion of the regulations which require Major Generals from holding the appointment of Brigadier.—Ibid.

RETENTION OF BRIGADIERSHIPS.—In answer to some speculative doubts that have reached us on the subject, we may say that, in a fair and liberal construction of the Court's orders regarding the retention of Brigadierships by such of the newly promoted Major Generals as may at present be incumbents, the Government will consider the case of Major General Barton, Town Major, to come within the rule, and that consequently he will not be required to vacate that appointment until he must otherwise have done so, by coming into the off-reckonings. Moreover, we believe, that permission is now granted to retiring Major Generals themselves to Brigadierships, as the Government may see fit, but it is not likely that such will ever be selected when there are meritorious and capable full Colonels available for the duty. We do not believe that the Bengal army has ever before been left bare of Colonels.—Ibid., Jan. 27.

We are happy to find that a requisition has been sent to the Sheriff to convene a Meeting to address the Queen upon the birth of an Heir Apparent to the Throne. We trust that our public will take the opportunity of redeeming their character for disloyalty by attending in large numbers when the meeting is called.—Ibid., Jan. 28.

ACCIDENT AND LOSS OF LIVES.—This morning a boat containing 14 persons, while proceeding towards Serampore, was capsized off Coliah Ghaut, owing to the boat coming in contact with the masts of two ships. Out of the above mentioned number of souls 9 of whom have been saved and 5 have met a watery grave.—Calcutta Courier, January 26.

NEW APPOINTMENTS.—The following Appointments are made by the Governor General:—
Captain W. Rutherford, 28th Regt. N. I., to officiate as Assistant Secretary to Government of India Military Department, during Major Sanders' absence, or until further orders. This appointment to have effect from the 1st proximo.
Captain C. J. Oldfield, 4th Regt. N. I. and A. D. C. to the Commander in Chief, to be Commandant of the 2d Regt. of Oude Local Infantry, vice Macdonald deceased.
Captain J. Mathias, 33d Regt. N. I., to be Major of Brigade at Ferozepore, vice Gahan, marched with his Regiment.
Surgeon James Duncan, we hear, is to retire from the service, on the pension of his rank, from the 1st proximo.—Ibid., Jan. 28.

WE LEARN, that the restoration of Mr. Curran, to his appointment in the Mint, the Court of Directors has been confirmed by the Board of Control.—Hurkaru, January 26.

SIR W. H. MACNAGHTEN.—Our letters, received this morning, give us the authority of accounts to the 15th instant, from Jullahabad, a different version of the events, which led to the murder of Sir W. H. Macnaghten, from those already published. "It is now said that a regular treaty had been drawn up, on the 15th of December, in which our Envoy agreed, upon certain conditions, to evacuate Cabul. These conditions, it appears, were fulfilled—provisions, &c. were supplied—but day after day passed and our troops did not commence the stipulated movement. This naturally caused the Afghan Chiefs to become suspicious of the British, and they began to suspect that the British had been made, and they loudly accused him of treachery. To remove these suspicions from the minds of his associates, he invited Macnaghten to a conference, and asked why the Afghans, having fulfilled the conditions named in the treaty, the British had not done the same. To this the Envoy (it is said) replied that the weather had prevented the march of our troops. A hot discussion then ensued, and, after a time, Macnaghten rose to depart, when Mohammed Ukkhar Khan seized the Envoy by the arm, and shot him dead upon the spot." Such is the account, which we have received from a correspondent, who adds a report that the town of Cabul has been stormed and carried by our troops; but this does not seem likely, as later accounts have been received in Calcutta, which make no mention of such an event. Another account has reached us, which whilst it tallies closely with the above, as far as it goes, supplies a very important particular, which, if true, gives a totally different coloring to the affair. It is said that when Ukkhar Khan laid his hand upon the Envoy, to keep him from suddenly breaking up the conference, one of our officers in attendance, (Capt. Trevor) apprehending violence, drew out a pistol and fired. Upon which both he and Macnaghten were immediately slain by Ukkhar Khan, and his attendants. We do not say that this is true—we merely give it as one of the versions, which are current, requesting our readers to suspend their judgment on the act, and the proceedings upon our part to which it should lead, until they are in possession of the true history of the affair.—Ibid., Jan. 27.

LAHORE.—The following is translated from a Lahore letter of the 3rd instant:—
"On the 1st instant the Maharajah, Sheer Singh, ordered the Scinde sirdars in captivity at Lahore, to be brought into his presence, and asked them to tell him who the traitor was, that constantly wrote to the sirdars in Scinde, and informed them of all his proceedings—even the most secret. The Maharajah offered them large bribes if they would disclose the name of the person, and threatened them and their families with rigid confinement, if they refused.

They all pleaded, that they were so closely watched by the Maharajah's people, that they could not even converse with freedom, leave alone carry on a correspondence with their countrymen. Some of the Maharajah's own people—somebody not in confinement—must, therefore, be concerned in communicating the news to the Scindian chiefs. They, however, did not know and consequently could not say who he was. The Maharajah became very much displeased with the captive chiefs, in consequence of receiving this answer, and ordered that the families to be subjected to the most rigorous treatment in confinement.

Dewan Innamooddeen informed the Maharajah, that according to his orders, he had taken measures for rendering the roads between Ferozepore and Ludiana quite safe to the Maharajah's harkaras.

On the 2d instant, some sirdars informed the Maharajah, that the English had assembled a large force, and ordered the sirdars to assemble at the Maharajah's own place, at Sheharunpore, in consequence of having detected him in carrying on a correspondence with his countrymen in Afghanistan, urging them to resist the British, as he was not satisfied with the treatment he received. The Maharajah merely uttered the interjection—Oh!

It was reported to the Maharajah that Sirdar Itur Singh was collecting a large force, and had already assembled two thousand troops, under the plea that he had to keep the roads clear, and afford the English every facility, in their march towards Afghanistan, he was obliged to entertain a large body of soldiers. The Maharajah became alarmed at this statement, and directed the immediate despatch of emissaries, to ascertain the true reason of this unauthorised assemblage of troops.

Fakker Azeedoodeen and Deen Mahomed Moonshee, then read the letter of the Governor General of India to the Maharajah. The letter requested a continuation of the present peaceable relations between the East India Company and the Maharajah, and the fulfilment of the terms of the treaty entered into with the Maharajah's father, Runjeet Singh.

The Maharajah was highly pleased at hearing the contents of the letter, and directed the Faqeer and the Moonshee to prepare a letter in reply, stating that the Maharajah would, in all things, maintain the strictest faith with the Company Bahadours.

The Maharajah directed couriers to be stationed between Jumrood and Lahore, to bring, with the greatest despatch, the news sent from Afghanistan.—Ibid.

SIR W. H. MACNAGHTEN.—The last account of the murder of Sir W. H. Macnaghten, which we gave in yesterday's Hurkaru, or something very much resembling it, seems to have obtained some share of credence in the Provinces, as well as in Calcutta. One of our letters says, "There is now another version of Macnaghten's death. When the envoy entered the tent, one of Ukkhar Khan's party drew his sword and held it over Macn's head, as a sign that the envoy and his suite were under the protection of the Khan. Upon seeing this, one of our people not understanding the custom, drew his sword in a threatening manner, and Mohammed Ukkhar Khan, fearing treachery, then shot the envoy. Connolly and Laurence are said to be prisoners. Trevor killed and Mackenzie escaped.—Ibid., Jan. 28.

A RUM APPLICATION.—The following application was yesterday made to one of the Police authorities. It is given verbatim et literatim.—"That your petitioner is sorry to inform your honour that your petitioner Brother Dullah, has been attacked with evil wind or the expense of Madras. At any rate, remedy is made he will be deprived of his life, your petitioner therefore begs that you will kindly order the Thanadar to prevent any Person from interfering, your petitioner gat a person that will perform some prayers and cure your petitioner's brother to-morrow in Cooley Bazar, the 28th instant."—Ibid.

MADRAS.

It is very generally reported that the Bengal Government has notified to the local Government that no further Native Troops can be spared from Bengal for China. In that case it is probable enough, therefore, that Madras may be called upon for another Regiment.—Spectator, Jan. 29.

THE 52D REGIMENT N. I. have been ordered we hear, from Asserghur to Bangalore. Although we are well aware that the state of this Regiment has not of late been quite satisfactory, we also know that several unfounded and exaggerated reports respecting it, have been very injudiciously circulated both at Bombay and at this Presidency. That any misconduct on the part of a Madras Regiment, should be made the most of in another Presidency, is natural enough, as had all that has been stated been true, the Bengal Army might very possibly have gained a Regiment at the expense of Madras. At any rate, however may have been the cause, we feel perfectly assured that the whole affair was greatly exaggerated at the Western Presidency, and to say the least of it very thoughtlessly re-echoed here. The Wing at Mulligan have taken their pay, and were reasoned into orderly behaviour by the authorities there, and though we strongly questioned the original policy of the measure, it is not probable that it will be quietly carried into effect.—Ibid.

Colonel Herbert of the Invalid Establishment, who lately returned to this country in order to appear again before the Medical Board, is, we learn to be restored to the Effective Establishment, if now considered eligible, and is to be a supernumerary Lieut.—Colonel.—Ibid.

SHIPPING FOR CHINA.—The Lady Flora and City of London have been taken up by Government for China, and the Defiance and Louise Family are also engaged conditionally, that is after being surveyed and approved on their arrival. The amount of tonnage to be taken up here, under instructions from Bengal, of the British Government, is 10,000 tons. This relation some very eligible ships, which might have been engaged at Bombay and brought round are rejected, while very small inferior ships are likely to be taken up at Calcutta.—Ibid.

The True Briton and John Line are engaged to take home the Invalids belonging to H. M. Regiments, and the Mary Ann those of the Hon. Company's.—Ibid.

Captain Campbell A. D. C. is we hear about to join his Regiment, which is proceeding to Afghanistan.—Ibid.

MELANCHOLY ACCIDENT.—We regret to learn the death of Captain L. B. Marquet, of the 2d Bengal, a young man named Thompson, caused by the upsetting of the Tweed's boat between that vessel and the shore near Negapatam. The boat was upset off Caricou on the 13th instant, the body of the unfortunate Captain was washed on shore at Negapatam, where it was interred by the Rev. Mr. Griffith. This sad accident should be a warning of the caution required in crossing the surf along the coast, and in fact, in too many cases sadly disregarded.—Ibid.

The Iron Duke was, if any thing, the favourite. Glengour led off as hard as he could, the Iron Duke lying on his quarter, the first half mile in 56s. He kept his horse going at his best, which told upon the Iron Duke who was beaten at the back of the course, and could never touch Glengour again, who won by several lengths in 3m. 57½s.—Athenum, Jan. 27.

DEATH OF CAPTAIN GORDON.—We regret to announce the death on the 15th instant on his way to Bombay on sick certificate, of Captain W. Gordon of the 6th Regt. N. I., Assistant Quarter Master General to the Nagpore Subsidary Force. This casualty promotes Lieut. W. M. Gunthorpe and Ensign W. Swington to the superior grades.—Ibid., Jan. 29.

MADRAS SPRING MEETING, 1842.

Second Day, Tuesday, 25th January.
FIRST RACE.—A Subscription Purse of 700 Rupees each, with 700 added from the Fund, for Maiden Arab Horses, St. 7lbs. each. Hests two Miles. To close on the 25th December and name the day before the Race. Three Subscribers.
Mr. Smollett's g. a. h. Prince of Wales, 1—1 G. Smith.
Mr. Maclean's g. a. h. January, late Scollan, 2—2.
Mr. Fox's b. a. h. Moonlight, 3—3.
Time—5m. 1m. 58s.—3m. 4m.

A good start, the Grey leading, the Grey and Chesnut lying about 3 lengths in the rear. At the back of the course, the Bay and the Grey rated it together; up the Hill, the Chesnut by strong running, made up a good deal of his leeway; at the turn home, the Bay was beaten, the Chesnut tried to close with the Grey, but could not, the Prince winning easily in 4 minutes.

2D HEAT.—Moonlight drawn. The Chesnut off at score, they Grey holding on his quarter; at the distance post, George took the lead and kept it all the way round, winning as he liked in 4m. 2s.

SECOND RACE.—A Galloway Plate of 300 Rupees from the Fund, with Rupees 300 each Subscription, for all Arabs, 14 Hands and under, 1½ Mile Heats—Maiden Galloways carrying 8st. 5lbs. winners to carry 7½s. extra. To close on the 25th December and name the day before the Race.

Mr. Smollett's g. a. h. g. Frolic, 1—1.
Mr. Grant's g. a. h. g. The Stranger, 2—2.
Time—Frolic carried over, the Stranger being drawn.

THIRD RACE.—The Little Welter of 20 Gold Mohurs from the Fund, with 10 Gold Mohurs each Subscription, P. P. one round the course 10st. 7½s. The winner of any Welter to put up 10½s. extra. To close and name the day before the Race.

Mr. Maclean's g. a. h. Colt Glenlyon, 1—1 Hall.
Mr. Fox's g. a. h. g. Florence, 2—2.
Mr. Smollett's g. a. h. g. Gluznee, 3—3.
Time—3½s.—1m. 1s.—1m. 31s.—2m. 3m. 2s.

For the Little Welter three came to the post. The Lotteries of the previous evening showed that there was little choice between them. A fair start, the Grey taking the lead, the Grey and the Chesnut following, he went away and kept about three lengths ahead till past the monument, where the Bay Colt crept up, and at the three quarter mile post they were neck and neck, Gluznee some few lengths in the rear; at the two mile post, the Colt was ahead and kept the lead, winning easily in 3m. 2s. Taking the weights and the age of the winner into consideration, the time is first rate.

FOURTH RACE.—Match for 50 Gold Mohurs, 2 Miles—carrying 8st. 7½s.
Mr. Maclean's g. a. h. Glenlyon, 1—1 Hall.
Mr. Fox's g. a. h. g. The Iron Duke, 2—2.
Time—3½s.—1m. 56s.—2m. 56s.—3m. 51½s.

On Wednesday last, Messrs. Robert Price Williams, B. A., Leonard Charles Wood, B. A., and John Morgan, Commener of Jesus coll., were elected Scholars of the said Society.

CAMBRIDGE, Dec. 4.—We are happy to find that the noble example of the Rev. T. Halford, of Jesus College, is already producing some of the good effects which might not unreasonably be expected from it. We are informed, on good authority, that one of the alma mater's most distinguished sons, the Lord Bishop of Durham, has forwarded to the Vice-Chancellor, through the master of Caius College, a donation of 100 guineas towards a fund for erecting another wing of the University Library, and we have the additional satisfaction of being able to state that the Rev. D. Chapman, the Master of Caius, has, with his usual liberality, placed in the hands of the Vice-Chancellor 50l. for the same object.

A Congregation on Wednesday last, the following graces passed the Senate:—

To present an Address of Congratulation to Her Majesty the Queen, on the happy occasion of the birth of a Prince.

To present Addresses of Congratulation to his Royal Highness Prince Albert, and to her Royal Highness the Duchess of Kent, on the same auspicious event. To appoint the Vice-Chancellor, the Rev. Dr. French Master of Jesus coll., the Rev. Dr. Tatham, Master of St. John's coll., the Rev. Professor Whewell, Master of Trinity coll., the Regius Professor of Divinity, the Norrissian Professor of Divinity, and Margaret Professor of Divinity, the Regius Professor of the Civil law, and the Regius Professor of Greek, a Syndicate to consider whether any and what steps should be taken, to provide a more efficient system of Theological Instruction in the University—and to report to the Senate before the end of the ensuing Term.

This proposition was received without opposition in the Senior, or Black Hood, House, and though non-placed in the Junior, or White Hood, House, was carried by a majority of 23 to 3.

At a Congregation on Wednesday last the following degrees were conferred:—Doctor in Medicine: T. W. White, Caius, Masters of Arts: S. R. Carter, Catharine hall; J. N. Wilkins, Trinity; J. F. Stanford Christ's Bachelors of Arts: C. Richison, Catharine hall.

DURHAM.—At a Convocation, holden on Tuesday week, J. Thomas, M. A., made the requisite declaration on being admitted to the office of Junior Proctor. The Rev. M. Caudill, M. A., was nominated as the senior Pro-Proctor, and made the requisite declaration.

Addresses of Congratulation to Her Majesty and Prince Albert, on the birth of a Prince, were proposed, and received the approbation of the house. At the same Convocation, the Rev. G. Reeke, M. A., of Merion College, Oxford, was admitted ad eundem, by vote of the House; and C. J. P. Foster, B. D., of Oriel College, Oxford, was presented and admitted ad eundem. A statute was passed for the management of the estates lately assigned to the University by the Queen in Council. Certain alterations were made in the regulations respecting the Observatory. J. A. Hodgson, Colonel in the Hon. East India Company's service, was nominated by the Warden, and appointed by Convocation, to be a Curator in the Observatory.

CHESTER DIOCESAN BOARD OF EDUCATION.

The second anniversary of this institution was held on Monday, at the Town Hall, Manchester, the Lord Bishop of the diocese in the chair. Very admirable speeches were delivered by the Right Rev. Prelate, and by Lord Francis Egerton, from that of the former we take the following exquisite simile, embodying the paramount necessity of education in the principles set forth in the Articles of Religion, and the duty of the Church:—"He could imagine a beautiful ship at sea, with all her sails set, in perfect order, and even capable of withstanding the storm. There might be every requisite on board in complete order; she might have hands sufficient to man her; but if that ship were without a rudder she would be driven about at the mercy of the ocean, and have nothing to guide her to the haven where she would be wanted, such was man without a ruling principle. (Loud applause.) For this reason it was that the Church had paid especial attention within the last three years to that she always had in view; for he most positively held that the Church had always held that principle, and, indeed, in that respect had been at the head of the age in which we live, but various circumstances had prevented her from earlier carrying out those plans."

To the same tenor, bringing an important fact to bear, spoke Lord Francis Egerton:—"He had been looking into a book of a very light texture the day before; it was a French volume, not necessary to name, but it contained some observations on the state of crime in France. The author assumed that from the year 1824 to the year 1836, the advance of light and intelligence proceeded with a more rapid course through that country than at any former period of French history. But it should be recollected that during the same period crime of every description had increased some thirty-nine per cent.—(hear, hear)—assassinations had increased by one-third, and forgery, false witness, and subornation of perjury, had increased one-half.—(Hear, hear.) The fact was an important one; it would be wrong to draw a positive conclusion from it; but it proved that the advance of mere education was not contemporaneous with the prevention of positive crime."

The Report, which was read by the Hon. and Rev. Horace Powis, Rector of Warrington, is an exceedingly valuable document, but too long even for us to give a resumé of it.—There were present, besides the distinguished individuals already mentioned, Mr. J. Wilson Patten, M.P.; Mr. T. B. Crosse, M.P.; Mr. P. Greenall, M.P.; Mr. C. Crosse, of Litherio Castle, Mr. R. Williamson, of Roda Hall; the Very Rev. the Dean of Manchester; the Rev. C. D. Wray, Canon of the Collegiate Church; the Worshipful Henry Raikes, Chancellor of the Diocese; the Rev. Prebendary Slade; the Hon. and Rev. Horace Powis; the Rev. Hugh Stowell, &c.

READING.—A meeting was held on Thursday evening in aid of the fund for the endowment of Colonial Bishops, which was attended by a considerable body of the Clergy and many of the gentry resident in the country. The strongest possible feeling prevailed as to the duty and expediency of imparting the "full benefit of the Church in all the completeness of her ministry, ordinances, and government," to the various colonies subject to the British Crown. The Venerable the Archbishop enforced from the chair the important object of the meeting, and was followed by the gentlemen who had kindly undertaken to submit the resolutions, Robert Palmer, Esq., M.P.; W. M. P., Esq., Charles Sawyer, Esq., William Stephens, Esq., the Revs. Ernest Hawkins, Dr. Vansittart, H. W. Majernie, W. Levett, S. Wildman Yates, and G. Hulme. Letters were read from several Members of Parliament and other gentlemen, whose names will appear among the contributions, expressing great regret at their inability to attend. The result of the meeting was most satisfactory, the contribution in the Hall exceeding 400l.

DIOCESE OF RYPON.—A requisition has been presented to the Lord Bishop of Ripon, signed by a very large number of influential laymen and clergymen, requesting his Lordship to call a meeting at Wakefield for the purpose of taking into consideration the propriety of establishing a diocesan board of education. The requisitionists express their firm conviction that education, if not based on religion, is calculated to effect harm rather than benefit, and are anxious that schools should be immediately established in the large towns of the diocese, that the children of the middle classes may receive instruction in all the branches usually considered essential to sound and liberal English education, based upon the doctrines of Christianity as taught by the Established Church.

Spirit of the European Press.

RAILWAY ACROSS THE Isthmus of Panama.—Speaking of the practicability of carrying a railroad across the Isthmus of Panama, Mr. Stephens, in his course of lectures in America, has the following eloquent and, as it appears to us, just observations:—

"As yet the subject of this communication has not taken any strong hold upon the public mind; it will be discussed, frowned upon, sneered at, and condemned as visionary and impracticable. Many in established business will oppose it as deranging the course of their trade. Capitalists will not risk their money in an unsettled and revolutionary country. The pioneers will be denounced and ridiculed; but if the peace of Europe be not disturbed, I am persuaded that the time is not far distant when the attention of the whole civilized and mercantile world will be directed towards it; and steam boats will give the first impulse. In less than a year, English mail boats will be steaming to Cuba, Jamaica, and the principal ports of Spanish America, touching once a month at San Juan and Panama.—[This anticipation of Mr. Stephens's is beginning to be realised. We read in the City Article of the Times of yesterday, that "The time of packets for the West Indies is announced as ready, four being placed on the berth to leave Southampton on the 1st instant—one for Jamaica, and two for the Havannah, each of the latter taking a different route," and from personal inspection we can add that the Thames packet, one of the intended line, now lying in the East India Dock, is an admirable specimen of the art of steam boat building, and perfect in every detail of her appointments.]—On broad grounds, this work has been well characterised as "the mightiest event in the progress of the peaceful intercourse of nations which the physical circumstances of the globe present to the enterprise of man!" It will compose the distracted country of Central America; turn the sword, which is now drenching it with blood, into a pruning hook; remove the prejudices of the inhabitants by bringing them into close connexion with people of every nation; furnish them with a motive and a reward for industry, and inspire them with a taste for making money, which, after all, opprobrious as it is sometimes considered, does more to civilise and keep the world at peace than any other influence whatever.—A great city will grow up in the heart of the country, with streams issuing from it, fertilising as they roll into the interior; her magnificent mountains and valleys now weeping in desolation and waste will smile and be glad. The commerce of the world will be changed, the barren region of Terra del Fuego be forgotten, Patagonia become a land of fable, and Cape Horn live only in the recollection of sailors and insurers. Steamboats will go smoking along the rich coasts of Chili, Peru, Ecuador, Grenada, Guantimala, California, our own Oregon Territory and the Russian possessions on the borders of Behring's Straits. New markets will be opened for the export of agriculture and manufactures, and the intercourse and communion of numerous and immense bodies of the human race will assimilate and improve the character of nations. The whole world is interested in this work."

This is a glowing picture, yet not, we think, an overcharged one. Three weeks since we showed the all but impossibility of cutting a canal through the Isthmus, and the practicability of forming a railway, in connection with the proposed canal, was a project now universally communicated to us by a talented engineer, Mr. F. Giles, who has for years directed his attention and energies to the subject; and at this moment when emigration is from circumstances necessarily taking so strong a hold on the public mind, we would urge on the leading men and capitalists of our country the importance of being foremost in the magnificent scheme of uniting the two oceans. By this route, and by the aid of steam-navigation, now all but furnished for the purpose, the passage from this country to New South Wales would be accomplished in ten weeks; and this not in one continuous voyage but into two voyages of 35 days or less each, and having the advantage of landing at a sort of half way house on the passage, the comfort of which will readily be appreciated by sea-going travellers.

Already steam vessels are plying along the coasts of Chili and Peru; and we learn that coal has been discovered in continuous strata to the extent of 400 miles
